

Bull Bill Jack

267 miles	Red Granite Gravel	~5,200 ft	Small-town services
-----------	--------------------	-----------	---------------------

Trail details

An epic endurance gravel route weaving through Mennonite farm country, expansive maple forests, and classic Wisconsin red barns. This long-distance loop connects remote rural roads with scenic red granite surfaces, inviting experienced riders to tackle a full-day (or multi-day) adventure through the heart of the state's gravel country.

Distance: 267 miles

Difficulty: Challenging

Surface: Mostly red granite gravel and rural backroads

Elevation Gain: ~5,200 ft (rolling + sustained terrain)

Trailhead: Athens Memorial Park, Athens

Parking: Secure parking at Athens Memorial Park

Trail Highlights

- Classic Mennonite farm country with horse-drawn buggies and bikes
- Expansive maple forests and pastoral landscapes
- "Center of the World" regional landmark crossing
- Iconic Wisconsin red barns and rural vistas
- Long, uninterrupted gravel stretches perfect for endurance riding
- Small-town hospitality and service stops along the loop
- True test of stamina and navigation for experienced gravel riders

The Bull Billy Jack · Ride with GPS